

Victims Of Fatal Crash Brought To Truckee Mortuary

Graveside funeral services were scheduled for 11 a. m. Wednesday in the Sierra Mountain cemetery for George Boone, Jr., 25, El Nido, one of four victims of an automobile accident at Yuba Gap Sunday morning at 1 a. m. The Truckee Colonial Mortuary is in charge of arrangements.

Bodies of the other three victims, Mrs. Mary Louise Evans, 29, and her two children, Denise Roggero, 3, and Michael Roggero, 1, were shipped this week to their home city of El Nido for services.

Boone, Mrs. Evans and the two Roggero children were believed killed instantly when the late model car driven by the former at a speed estimated in excess of 100 miles an hour, left the freeway on a slight turn and flew 150 feet through the air before smashing into a rock strewn bank 30 feet below the road and rolled across the Southern Pacific tracks.

Parts of the car were scattered over a 100 square yard area. The accident was discovered when an east bound freight train hit the motor of the vehicle which had been torn from the car and landed on the tracks.

Highway Patrol Sergeant Kenneth Armbruster and Officer Robert Pfeiffer said the accident was one of the most violent they had ever seen.

Since the accident occurred in Nevada County William Mills, deputy coroner, took charge of the bodies.

Football Game Is Cancelled; Season Ended In Victory

The inclement weather which has battered the state for the past two weeks have resulted in cancellation of the football game here Saturday between the Tahoe Truckee Wolverines and their traditional rivals, Del Oro.

The Truckee field, where the game was scheduled in buried under 18 inches of snow, while the Del Oro grid is under water. Efforts to locate a neutral ground for the contest failed and Coach Guy Wilson yesterday announced cancellation.

The Wolverines, sparked by the brilliant playing of Quarterback Greg Moore, last Saturday afternoon walloped the Lovelock team in a non-league contest on the local field 26 to 0.

Moore was outstanding in running the team and on one 40-yard run for a touchdown performed one of the best plays recorded by the squad. He took the ball from center, faded back to pass and was smothered by three defensive Lovelock men. He wiggled out, cleverly evaded two others, making his way to the goal, where he eluded the Lovelock linebacker by faking a pass and then ran into the end zone.

Coach Wilson had high praise for his team this year, each of the boys playing hard and fast, none striving for personal glory, but fighting as a team.

In the preliminary game Saturday, the Tahoe Truckee freshmen won from the South Tahoe Frosh 41 to 7.

More Burglaries Are Revealed As 4 Suspects Held

The arrest of four young men at Las Vegas last week charged with burglarizing summer homes in the Truckee-Donner area apparently did not end the crimes.

Sergeant Roy Waters of the sheriff's department said that investigation is continuing to locate two young men seen leaving the John R. Wilson summer home early this month. Wilson of Fair Oaks was hunting in the vicinity and a neighbor, John Thompson, Waters said, questioned the two youths and was told they were friends of Wilson and had permission to enter the house.

Thompson took the vehicle license number and later reported the incident to the officers. An all-points bulletin disclosed that the car they were using had been stolen in Orangevale. It was later recovered near Cisco by the California Highway Patrol, but the loot, if any, had been removed with the exception of one blanket.

The four men arrested in Las Vegas, Olin Hill, Claudous A. Ramsey, John Svecite and Karoly Kovacs, were being held in Nevada City under $5,000 bail each. They were apprehended after they were alleged to have burglarized five homes in this region including those of Stanley Swanson of Sacramento and Arthur Humphrey of Woodside on the south shore of Donner Lake.

They were arrested following an all-points bulletin sent out after a neighbor took the number of their license plate as they were leaving one of the homes burglarized.

Major Snow Storm May Stop Work On Freeway For Year

The Truckee station of the U. S. Forest Service reported that thus far during November, this area has received 2.47 inches of precipitation from the 19 inches of snow which has fallen. Normal precipitation for the entire month of November is 3.39 inches. There were 12 inches of snow on the ground here this morning and prospects are for clearing tonight and tomorrow.

Up to 45 inches of snow fell on Donner and some ski resorts in the area were prepared to open this weekend.

Strong winds which whipped the region last night caused deep drifts which closed the highway at times but it was reported open and clear this morning. Chains were required. The Emerald Bay road has been closed and may not be reopened this winter.

A series of storms of mid-winter proportion swept over the Sierra this week bringing a halt to work on the new freeway over Donner Summit, snarling traffic to force frequent road closures, but forecasted an early ski season.

The snow pack on Donner yesterday ranged from 30 to 40 inches, making it impossible to continue work on Interstate 80 which, according to highway officials, would have been opened for traffic within eight days had it not been for the heavy snowfall. Whether work can be continued in the near future, or whether it will be delayed until spring remains a moot question.

Officials were scheduled to meet Friday to discuss future construction. Black topping of the shoulders for a short distance, installation of directional signs and other minor details remain to be done before the route can be opened to travel.

In the meantime, the narrow, twisting route over the summit is proving difficult to keep open as trucks and cars frequently skid out of control blocking the route and making it impossible for snow removal equipment to operate.

The chain control has been enforced most of this week. The distance of the control varied from Boca to Baxter and from the Donner Lake gate to Kingvale, depending upon the severity of the series of storms.

Most ski resorts welcome the early snows and are rushing work to have all equipment ready for the opening of the projected lengthy season. Many skiers are expected in the area this weekend, although many of the resorts will not have equipment running. Skiing is expected to be good in most areas.

The county snow removal crews have been busy keeping the streets and county roads open with much of the winter equipment being brought to Truckee from Nevada City where it has been stored.

Restraining Order For Alex Cushing

AUBURN—The Squaw Valley Development Company has been restrained temporarily from testing or operating two ski chair lifts as the result of a complaint filed here by the state division of industrial safety.

Superior Judge Leland J. Propp yesterday granted a temporary restraining order and a hearing to show cause why the order should not be made permanent was scheduled for 10 a. m. next Monday.

The state attorney general's office, which also named Alex C. Cushing, company president, and John T. Buchman, manager, charged two new chairlifts have been constructed without plans being submitted for state approval.

Raymond Rodriguez, a supervising safety engineer, stated Cushing has been ordered to submit the plans for the Shirley Lake and Emigrant Ridge lifts but he has refused in violation of a state safety order.

DONNER DOINGS

By VI WHITE
Phone 587-3866

The snow that was predicted for over the weekend finally came Monday. Wet slushy stuff that collected on trees and fell with a thud when the wind blew.

Gas stations were busy with people like us who wait 'till the last minute to see if those tire chains fit the new tires. Guess it's about time to put plastic over the windows too to conserve heat. Winter is here!

A number of thefts were reported by cabin owners recently, but the culprits were found quickly. Fortunately too, one of the house owners had a record of serial numbers of appliances and tools that proved valuable in catching the men. So as a word of caution in case of theft, and to aid in identifying items stolen, make a list of all your tools, appliances, equipment, etc., and their serial numbers.

Virginia and John Rarig of Orinda came up last weekend to check on their cabin on the Truckee River and their kids were so excited to find snow, that they packed out a little spot on the hill to ski on. The family attended the successful Swi Swap that the Tahoe Community Nursery School held and bought several items.

Ski season should begin on most slopes around Thanksgiving, but a few anxious "slope dopes" were seen marking up the snow at Squaw Valley, Donner Ski Ranch and Soda Springs.

The 2nd Annual California Winter Sports Fair is scheduled at the Cow Palace in San Francisco starting tomorrow through Sunday. Last year the event was practically rained out so many of the exhibits were outside, but all will be inside this time. Some outstanding skiers will perform on the artificial slope there.

Dick Barrymore's "Snow Motion" color movie of the IX Winter Olympics will be shown by the Marin Ski Club at the Sequoia Theatre in Mill Valley November 17th. A tremendous picture.

Over fifty interested people attended the P. T. A. meeting Monday night to hear the pros and cons for the proposed incorporation of Truckee and Donner Lake when Dr. Ben King spoke for and Carson White against.

Mrs. Pete Heuga proudly displayed her son Jim's trophies at the Ski Swap in Tahoe City Saturday and expressed the desire to have a spot for them in the arena possibly in the Donner Memorial Museum in the State Park. Jim has received some beautiful awards throughout his skiing years. Shown also was the whole outfit he wore in the Olympics at Innsbruck, Austria earlier this year when he won the bronze medal in the slalom. We're all proud of Jim and the U. S. skiers.

COURT FIGHT LOOMS OVER BEACH AT LAKE

AUBURN—A court fight involving residents of a plush area fronting on Tahoe's Carnelian Bay—and possibly implicating the United States Forest Service—shaped up this week after the board of supervisors approved the final map for the Cedar Flat Subdivision.

The board approved the map on the recommendations of County Counsel Richard V. Smith, Planning Director J. F. Barber and County Engineer J. E. Little—and over the strenuous objections of Gerald J. O'Gara, San Francisco attorney and a former state senator.

Henry E. Branagh, supervisor of Tahoe National Forest, also urged

NEWS FROM DONNER TRAIL

By Betty Kielhofer

I just talked to Bob Moore on his return from hunting in Nevada and he and Charlie Fink filled their tags even though the bucks were more scarce there this year. They hunted on a 200,000 acre private ranch and Bob said he had never eaten so much. Real true hospitality.

Tom and Gladys Dolley just purchased the home of their son, Tom, Jr., and haven't made up their minds whether to sell or keep it as an investment. Real estate has always been their long suit anyway, and they've been mighty successful with their purchases.

If you are the owner of several parcels of property, I imagine you are just about as confused as everyone else as to which parcel belongs to what bill. Most people have been shooting the bills right back to Nevada City asking for a better description and in most cases, they are being returned with maps. Keep these for future references or you'll be in the same state of confusion next year.

Probably the nicest sight to see is the old Olympic Hotel finally on the ground, ready for the dumps. It was pretty frightening for a pedestrian to cautiously wend his way past to the post office.

Though we all realize the hospital was badly in need of expansion, it was pretty heartbreaking to see the nicest lawn in the area uprooted and covered. Guess something must always be sacrificed for progress.

One more beautiful new building will be sprouting up in the Gateway area next summer in the form of the proposed Highway Patrol quarters. They have outgrown their present location with the terrific increase of patrolmen and employees. Another sign our population and tourist travel is increasing.

Harry and Billie Weiler are in the process of remodeling their five bedroom home on Donner approval of the map in order to expedite the long-pending exchange of the federally owned Cedar Flat area for holdings at Camp Richardson in El Dorado County.

O'Gara charged discrimination: "It's unfair that the other lakefront properties are being left untouched while Mrs. Jones' (beach) front is to be used for recreation by the others."

Branagh explained that the Jones property was the only really suitable beach area in the subdivision, the other spots being "too bluff and rocky." This was the reason a buffer zone designating the area in front of the Jones property for recreational use was put into the map.

Oliver Ledford, a member of the Cedar Flat Improvement Association board of directors, claimed that his group, in having the map prepared had met all the county and federal requirements. He added that while his group considered buying Mrs. Jones' property, her "asking price" of 560,000 was too high.

In California... after bowling, beer is a natural

After you've bowled a game or two, or when you're winding up the evening at the neighborhood bowling center, it's good to relax with friends and compare scores. What better way to add to the sport and the sociableness than with a refreshing glass of beer? However you take your fun—skiing, skating, or at your ease in the game room—beer always makes a welcome addition to the party.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

MODERN BUILDERS FOUND SUMMIT WAS DIFFICULT TERRAIN

The highway between Sacramento and Reno has been a formidable, difficult and, in some places, dangerous mountain route. The engineers building Interstate 80 freeway across the summit of the Sierra found it no less difficult than the covered wagon pioneers of 120 years ago.

Construction on a single 10 1/2-mile four-lane section across the summit alone required 2.5 million pounds of explosives.

This mountain pass was first penetrated in 1844-45 and following is a brief historical account of what those early pioneers surmounted.

"The main body of emigrants took the wagons along the . . . stream now called Donner Creek . . . The others then went ahead with six wagons. They worked their way for two miles along the north shore of the lake . . . a quarter-mile beyond the head was enough to appall anyone. A thousand feet high . . . so steep that little streams came leaping down in cascades, a rugged granite mass blocked the way. All the wagons were unloaded . . . chains were fastened to the tongues of the wagons and carried to the top of the rock where cattle were hitched to them. Then the men lifted at the wagons, while the cattle pulled at the chains and by this ingenious device the vehicles were all, one by one, (lifted) across the barrier." (In the following few years pioneers used the "Cold Stream" route south of Donner Lake which was not quite so rugged.)

This was a major triumph in American pioneering. From the 40-mile desert in Nevada to the Yuba Bridge near Cisco, a distance of 150 miles, old U. S. 40 followed the general line of the pioneering exploration.

Later known as the Truckee route, the pioneer trail was used in the 1860's to haul freight. It was a rocky wagon road with only those boulders removed which were too large to permit passage of high-wheeled wagons.

Donner Pass proved to be best suited for location of a railroad and when railway officials saw this advantage they built a toll road ahead of the tracks. This was named the "Dutch Flat and Donner Lake Road" and in 1864 it opened to traffic from the railhead at Clipper Gap (near Applegate) to Virginia City. The stage route was heavily used for five years until the railroad was completed. It remained passable after that and was the foundation from which U. S. 40 was developed. Sections of the old wagon road are still visible not far from Interstate 80 at several locations.

The Donner route remained in eclipse for almost 40 years after the railway went into operation then in 1906 the California legislature appropriated funds for its improvement. However, only minor repairs were attempted and in 1920 it was still a narrow, dirt road.

From 1924 on, improvements followed in rapid succession. In 1929 a highway between Emigrant Gap and Big Bend ranger station was graded replacing the old dirt road forever.

At the time of World War II the strategic importance of the highway was recognized and in the 1940's a four-lane highway was urged.

By 1947, conversion of the two lane highway to four lanes had begun and now, in 1964, a route that once was acclaimed a major triumph in American pioneering has won yet more acclaim as a major triumph in American engineering.

A letter was received by the family of Barry Leamon, who is in the U. S. Navy, relating his experience of being "smack dab" in the middle of infamous typhoon, Dot. According to press dispatches it left a trail of destroyed property and loss of lives in its wake. He mentioned that it was "pretty rough going" while riding out the severe storm.

Barry hopes they will be heading for God's country, home, upon leaving Hong Kong, after several months of active duty in the far east.

Freeways Are Not Designed For Walks

SACRAMENTO — Freeways are not designed to accommodate pedestrians, and common sense precludes crossing one on foot—except by means of a bridge or underpass adapted to pedestrian use.

Nevertheless, a study of accidents involving pedestrians on freeways recently completed by the California Division of Highways proved one-third of the mishaps involved foolhardy individuals who set out across the path of oncoming traffic—usually to save the few steps required to reach the nearest separated structure.

The study includes a five-year period beginning in 1958 and proves conclusively that a freeway is no place to be on foot if you can help it. There was an annual average of 130 such accidents including 55 fatalities and the walkers were a factor in 13 per cent of all fatal freeway accidents.

Until the study was completed, it was a popular belief that hitch hikers were the most accident-prone pedestrian group so far as freeways are concerned but they proved a minor factor.

Instead almost half—43 per cent—of the dead and injured became freeway pedestrians because their vehicles broke down or had figured in a prior accident. Another 33 per cent of the victims were using the freeway as a short-cut, nine per cent were working on the right of way, five per cent were hitch hikers and investigators could not ascertain why the remainder were there.

Day light hours were safest for walkers because two-thirds of the accidents occurred after dark.

The most perilous place was the main traveled lanes where 70 per cent of the accidents happened. Eighteen per cent took place on the shoulders, seven per cent on ramps, three per cent on the median and two per cent couldn't be pinpointed to specific locations.

The state's traffic engineer, James E. Wilson, believes the group most likely to improve its record consists of those persons who became pedestrians after their cars broke down. Wilson agrees it is embarrassing when your car quits on a freeway but insists it won't prove fatal if basic precautions are taken.

First of all, he recommends coasting to the right and attempting to get completely off the pavement. Because safety may be measured in inches in such situations, it is even better if the car can be parked to the right of the freeway's shoulder. If it's not possible to coast to the right, the wide median on the

What's doing?

Nowadays you find extension phones wherever people live a lot—in the kitchen, workshop, bedroom and patio. But here's one that tops them all! When the world's champion flagpole sitter took his lofty perch on Atlantic City's boardwalk, one of his first requests was for a phone. He got one. An extension was connected to a nearby hotel switchboard and run up the pole to him. It may not have saved the champion any steps, but it was sure located where he lived a lot.

Olympic Games always provide a world of thrills—the great sportsmanship, the new records, the friendly goodwill among nations. And with each Olympiad come marvelous changes that win no medals but add enjoyment to these events. This year, for example, Americans could watch the impressive opening ceremonies live and direct from Tokyo via a communications satellite. And, Americans in Japan sharing Olympic thrills with folks back home enjoyed telephone conversations as clear as crosstown calls—thanks to the recent opening of the first telephone cable between America and Asia.

November 4, 1924 marked the first radio broadcast of presidential election returns. (Telephone lines helped make it possible just as they do today.) How's your history? Coolidge defeated John W. Davis.

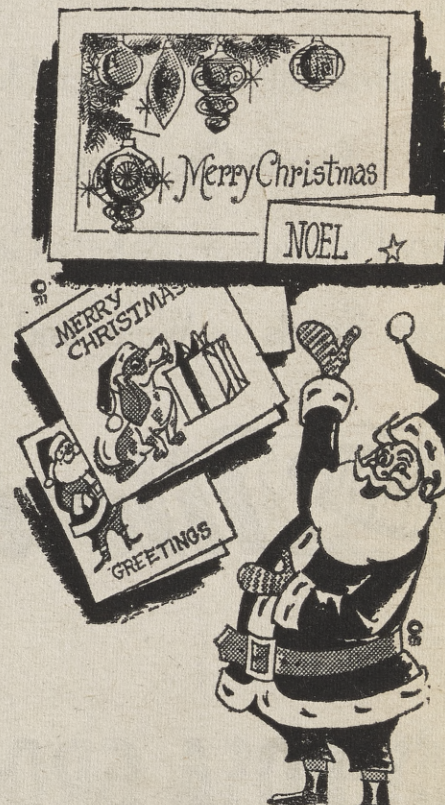

A telephone customer just solved a mystery. You see, she frequently came home to find her telephone off the hook. It turned out to be the work of her pet dog. Seems that whenever the phone rang, Fido would do the customary thing; he'd answer it. He'd just jump up on the table, push the handset off, and bark into it until he heard a voice from the other end. So the customer ordered a Bell Chime ringer through her telephone business office in the hope that her dog will be fooled when a melodic chime takes the place of the familiar telephone ring. Doggone good idea!

Opposition Voiced To Zoning Plans

TAHOE CITY—At the third public hearing held at Tahoe City last week by the Placer County Planning Commission on a proposed Tahoe regional plan, some opposition was expressed to limiting the area of the plan.

John Reilly, developer of Alpine Meadows, told the commission that he believes the plan wrong in an attempt to "jam everybody into an area within a mile and one half of Lake Tahoe." This view was supported by Commissioner Jim McMahan, who said he believed more thought should be given to the development of areas back in the so-called green belt so long as this did not destroy civic values.

The hearing was continued to January 22 and the fourth meeting on the important subject will be held in Auburn.

The commission was criticized by some attending because the hearings are being conducted after many of the summer residents have left for the season. Chairman C. A. Gibbs said it is possible the hearings may continue into next summer. Chairman Gibbs took exception to one remark that the plan "is for what you can get out of it." He said neither Placer County nor Director Fred Barber originated the plan but that it is a result of discussions among five counties surrounding the lake.

"No one is trying to shove anything down your throat, but others have the same rights as you," Gibbs said. He added that he wished the man would follow the record of the planning commission "you would then know that many proposals that come before us go down to defeat."

Fred Hodder, Janet Blaha To Wed Soon

Miss Janet M. Blaha of Guilford, Connecticut, will become the bride of Alfred A. (Fred) Hodder of Truckee at a ceremony to be performed in Guilford Saturday, November 21.

Miss Blaha, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Blaha of Guilford, is presently employed with a travel agency in San Francisco. She is a native of Guilford and a graduate of the University of Connecticut with the class of 1959.

Hodder, a native of Sacramento, has lived in Truckee for the past two and a half years. He is a graduate of Sacramento State in 1958 and received his master's degree in 1959 from the Coro Foundation in San Francisco. He served in the U. S. Navy from 1954 to 1963 aboard the USS Iowa and was a member of the commissioning crew of the atomic submarine, Seawolf.

Following the wedding, the couple will honeymoon at Cape Cod before returning to make their home at Donner Lake. During the second week of December they will travel to Hawaii for two weeks.

Both Miss Blaha and Hodder are sailing enthusiasts and finished their first sailing season by winning first place in the Tahoe Yacht Club's 10-race series held last summer at Sunnyside, Lake Tahoe.

SIERRA COLLEGE TO GAIN FROM PROP. 2

Last week's passage of the state college bonds issue (Prop. 2) will probably mean about $400,000 for Sierra College, if the funds allocated to some 70 junior colleges are distributed on the same basis as previous state college issue.

Harold Weaver, president of Sierra College, indicated he was hopeful the funds could be used on a 1:1 matching basis with local bond money already approved by district voters. Funds which will be used next year will include approximately $90,000 in state bond money which must be matched with local funds, on a three to one basis.

Scheduled for construction starting in 1965 are new engineering and administration buildings. Additional science and auditorium lecture facilities, expanded business, academic and industrial technology facilities also will be built during the next few years.

Sierra students will pay for expansion of the college cafeteria and bookstore through a federal "repayment by revenue" loan. Construction is scheduled for next summer.

SWIM POOL DISTRICT PLANNED AT INCLINE

RENO—District Judge Grant L. Bowen has scheduled a hearing on a petition to form a swimming pool district in Incline Village, Lake Tahoe, for December 10th provided the more than 100 petitioners post a $1,000 bond.

The cost of the proposed project has been estimated at $850,000 and the district boundaries would be identical with the Incline Village General Improvement District which supplies water and a sewage system to new development on the north shore of Lake Tahoe.

Petitioners are taxpayers electors who would include an existing swimming pool and structures within Burnt Cedar Community Beach in the proposed district. Bowen invited petitions from property owners objecting to the district at the December hearing.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Johnson Pledged To Continued Efforts

Congressman Harold T. (Bizz) Johnson today pledged to work for the best interests of all the people of the Second Congressional District during the 89th congress.

The veteran legislator who has served in local, state and federal government expressed deep appreciation to the voters of the 19 counties which comprise the district, for his substantial victory November 3rd.

"Their support places upon me the great responsibility of providing good representation to all the people of the district," Congressman Johnson said. "I will do everything in my power to live up to the faith which the people have in this way placed in me."

Representative Johnson, who has served in congress for six years, said that with the assistance of a fine Washington staff headed by Dwight H. Barnes, administrative assistant, he has strived to serve all the people.

"We have tried to help in every way possible, all those who have come to us with problems involving the executive agencies of the federal government," Representative Johnson said. "And, in each case, we have given full and thoughtful consideration on all legislative correspondence received in our office. We shall continue this policy throughout the 89th congress."

From 1945 to 1948 he was a carrier pilot and this is when he made a switch in his career.
